

Manager McGraw Again Selects San Antonio as Spring Training Headquarters for Giants

World's Champions Will Play Long Series With White Sox

Locals Will Meet Memphis Club Also in Six Contests on Home Journey

By W. J. Macbeth

Secretary James J. Tierney of the world's champion New York Giants yesterday made public the plans for the spring training of that popular team.

Vice-President Manager John J. McGraw, who, while not at all superstitious, has always been known to play hunches, has decided to return to San Antonio, Tex., in 1922 for preparatory work. The Giants trained in San Antonio last spring and eventually won not only the National League pennant but the championship of the world as well, and under these circumstances, perhaps, would have been very foolish to go elsewhere. San Antonio, proud of the advertising it received as a result of Giant success, made flattering overtures, which McGraw soon assured Harry J. Benson were fair and satisfactory. Benson is the president of the Texas League club of San Antonio.

Mr. McGraw, as yet, has not announced officially when he will order the mobilization of his forces for the pilgrimage southward. Details of course will be left to Secretary Tierney. But if one is privileged to read signs it may be suspected that the Little Napoleon proposes a long training drill for his charges. Indeed, McGraw always has been a disciple of the protracted training idea.

In the old days, when he was winning pennants with sensational regularity annually, he devoted six weeks or more to training in the South exclusively. A National League ruling which first limited training to four weeks and afterward forbade the start before March 1 handcuffed him for a few years.

Will Require Long Siege

Doubtless McGraw has laid his plans for a long siege of training the coming spring. His is an old team; that is a club composed largely of veteran players, who require far more time than kids to round into proper playing form. Furthermore, his exhibition season will start as early as Saturday, March 11.

It is a pretentious exhibition series McGraw has planned for his boys the coming spring. It has been possible to arrange an exceptionally strong schedule for these strong clubs. Chicago will meet New York no less than four times, playing there are no post-seasons because of the winter. Four of these games will be played in San Antonio, two in Dallas and two in Fort Worth. The other six will embellish the itinerary of the joint

Fourteen Games Scheduled

Because of the fact that the White Sox will train at Seguin, Tex., which is only thirty miles distant from San Antonio, it has been possible to arrange an exceptionally strong schedule for these strong clubs. Chicago will meet New York no less than four times, playing there are no post-seasons because of the winter. Four of these games will be played in San Antonio, two in Dallas and two in Fort Worth. Lack of "Pro" Players Against Success of Tennis Tournament

Few Would Desert Amateur Ranks for Purse That May Be Offered

The report that Tex Rickard is to stage a professional tennis tournament at Madison Square Garden this winter is simply the revival of rumors that have been heard and known amongst tennis players for the last few months. There is nothing to prevent Rickard from conducting an affair, provided he can procure the players who would be willing to sacrifice their amateur standing, but it is more than doubtful that such a tournament would attract a sufficient "gate" to repay the promoter for his financial expenditure.

There are a few professional lawn tennis players in this country at present, George Agutter, of the West Side Tennis Club, Jimmy Burns, of the Rockaway Hunting Club; Charles Haggert, now in Florida, and William Crocker, of the Longwood Cricket Club, of Boston, being the most prominent. Whether the public would be sufficiently interested, however, to pay good money to see these men in a tournament is open to question.

If Rickard were able to retain amateur players of the standing of Tilden, Johnston and Richards he might succeed in making a paying proposition of such an affair; but it does not seem likely that any of the "first ten" men would listen to offers of that kind, and certainly those who follow the game would never be weaned to professional tennis. It is against the spirit of the sport.

If Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, national woman champion and conqueror of the Lenglen at Forest Hills last August, follows her expressed determination of going to England next June to compete at Wimbledon in the world's championship, the possibility of another meeting with Mlle. Lenglen, the present holder of the title, will attract a tremendous crowd.

The French girl defeated Mrs. Mallory at St. Cloud last summer and retained her championship at Wimbledon but since Mrs. Mallory's sensational victory at Forest Hills there are many who believe the American champion would conquer Mlle. Lenglen if the two were to play again.

Cross Country Race To-day

The Brooklyn Polytechnic cross country team will meet the Harriers from Fordham at Van Cortlandt Park this afternoon at 2:30. The Brooklyn team defeated C. C. N. Y. and N. Y. V. and lost to Rutgers, the Middle Atlantic champions, in a closely contested run over the New Brunswick course. "Corney" Kraiss, the Poly star, is promised to give Wherry of Fordham, a close race for first place.

Big Welcome for Elgin

ANSONIA, Conn., Dec. 2.—This city is decorated as if for a Yale-Harvard football game because the high schools of Ansonia and Elgin, Ill., will clash here to-morrow on the gridiron. The Illinois school players reached here last night and were met by Mayor Mead, city officials and the Board of Aldermen. This morning they practiced for their afternoon visit to Yale University.

Cordier Is Favorite In Opening Round of Squash Meeting

Yale Club Star Faces Strong Opposition in Annual National Fall Meet

A field of thirty-four players will start in the preliminary round of the annual national fall squash tennis tournament, which begins this afternoon on the courts of the Crescent A. C., Brooklyn. Among the entries are some of the best racquet wielders in the country, the best of these, from a standpoint of ranking, being A. J. Cordier, Yale Club, former champion, who was rated third in the standing issued by the N. S. T. A. last year.

Cordier will undoubtedly be a strong favorite, but it is by no means certain that he will emerge victorious, for the field includes several youngsters who have been knocking at the door of fame for the past two seasons and should the break go against the Yale star he will be eliminated.

Thomas B. Coward Jr., also of the Yale Club, who won the B. title last season, is sure to go far in the scratch tournament, as are Anderson Dana and Hewitt Morgan, Harvard, and R. E. Fink and James Doig, Crescent A. C.

The pairings, with the time of each match in the preliminary round, as announced last night, follow:

PRELIMINARY ROUND

R. G. Coburn, Harvard, vs. A. Baxter Jr., Crescent, 2 p. m.; C. F. Fuller, Harvard, vs. W. Putnam, Columbia, 2 p. m.; Anderson Dana, Harvard, vs. C. W. Dinger, Crescent, 2:45 p. m.; H. R. Burroughs, Crescent, vs. C. Cooney, Yale, 2:45 p. m.; H. P. McVaugh, Crescent, vs. Hewitt Morgan, Harvard, 3:30 p. m.; O. L. Guernsey, Yale, vs. W. W. Riley, Princeton, 3:30 p. m.; L. P. Bayard Jr., Short Hills Club, vs. R. E. Fink, Crescent, 4:15 p. m.; H. G. Vines, Crescent, vs. D. Baker, Yale, 4:15 p. m.; James Doig, Crescent, vs. L. W. Putnam, Columbia, 4:15 p. m.; J. C. Neely, University Club of Chicago, vs. Clyde Martin, Yale, 5 p. m.; C. M. Bull, Crescent, vs. D. Torrance, Crescent, vs. Wm. Putnam, Columbia, 5:45 p. m.; George B. Abbot, Harvard, vs. Harold Harvey, Princeton, 5:45 p. m.; R. F. Oyster, Crescent, vs. Fred S. Whitlock, Harvard, 6:30 p. m.

Monday

A. J. Cordier, Yale, vs. L. I. Grennell, Harvard, 8 p. m.; Sterling, Crescent, vs. John Taylor, Princeton, Thomas Coward, Yale, and W. F. Robinson, Harvard, draw byes.

Tom Howard May Coach Columbia Hockey Team

Captain Anderson sent the Columbia hockey team through a long scrimmage at the 131st Street ice palace last night in preparation for the opening contest with Yale. More than thirty men were on hand and the majority are shaping up well. Anderson is in charge of the candidates until the Columbia athletic authorities secure the services of a coach.

It is rumored that Tom Howard, one of the foremost hockey authorities in the country and for many years in charge of the ice game at Yale, has been approached by the Columbia athletic officials and is seriously considering their offer to take charge of the team.

Schools in Swim Meet

The ninth series of dual swimming meets for the P. S. A. L. high schools will be held this afternoon at the Columbia pool and may shatter the present tie for first place. Evander Childs, Erasmus Hall and the High School of Commerce are the three teams in the lead. These teams will meet strong rivals. Erasmus will oppose Townsend Harris and Evander will swim against Clinton.

Schoolboys in Title Game

The soccer teams of Morris High School, of the Bronx and Erasmus Hall, of Brooklyn, will meet this afternoon at the City College Stadium in a contest for the P. S. A. L. championship of Greater New York. Morris earned its brackets by winning the title in the Manhattan-Bronx-Richmond division, while Erasmus got the title in the Brooklyn-Queens division.

Coast Team in Title Game

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 2.—The football championship of southern California, will hang in the balance when the University of Arizona and Whittier College meet here to-morrow. Whittier holds the championship of the Southern California College Conference, while Arizona is the undisputed winner of the Southwest collegiate football title.

Johnny Buff to Defend Bantam Title Against Smith in Garden

Champion Slated to Meet Midget on December 23 in Second Show Following Six-Day Bike Race; Financial Differences Are Yet To Be Settled

By Jack Lawrence

The bantamweight situation is holding the attention of Mr. Tex Rickard, and it became evident yesterday that in the business of promoting fistic encounters the country's leading ring impresario intends to wade through the present turmoil of this division and crown the real champion.

This is casting no reflections upon Johnny Buff's right to the title, which is unquestioned, but it means that, just as soon as the six-day bicycle race is over Madison Square Garden will be thrown once more into a fight arena and that its historic squared circle will be used in applying a process of elimination to the quarreling bantams.

According to the best fistic information obtainable yesterday, Tex Rickard has matched Midget Smith and Johnny Buff for a bout which is scheduled to take place at the Garden on the evening of December 23, which will be the second regular Friday night boxing show to be staged in the arena after the bicycle race.

While no official announcement has been made in relation to this match, it is fairly certain that it will take place on the date given in this story. Some financial differences are yet to be settled between the respective managers, but it is expected that these obstacles will be removed within the next twenty-four hours and that the official announcement from the Garden will be immediately forthcoming.

Would Remove Bad Taste

This bout would unquestionably remove some of the bad taste that is lingering in the mouths of fight followers as a result of the Mike McTigue-Jeff Smith scrap on Thursday night. It would have all the drawing powers that the latter affair lacked. It would also go a long way toward clearing the bantamweight atmosphere.

When Midget Smith met Joe Lynch in the Garden a little more than a week ago their wild and woolly scrap was called a draw by the officials representing the New York State Athletic Commission. Smith and those in his corner made a loud outcry against this ruling. The Midget's manager, immediately after the bout, said: "If that isn't a heluva decision I never heard one."

That could be taken to indicate that Smith's manager was dissatisfied. The Midget himself was almost in tears as he left the ring, and the crowd was about equally divided, which has led to much hectic controversy that is still going on.

Buff Won Previous Bout

Smith and Buff have met before in Madison Square Garden, under the auspices of Tex Rickard, and on that occasion Buff was awarded the decision. It was a fiery affair from bell to bell, and while the little old man from Jersey City was the winner by a margin that did not admit of argument, the fight was of the type that kept the crowd up and shouting throughout the scheduled ten rounds that the battle lasted.

Smith probably should have been given the decision over Joe Lynch, former bantamweight title holder, at the Garden in their last match. Whether this is so or not, it is certain that he put up an exhibition that entitled him to another match with Buff. This potential engagement is the best on Tex Rickard's future calendar at the present time and there is no doubt that it would be a popular one with the public.

Kramer to Box Graham

Thirty-six rounds of boxing will be staged this evening at the Ridgewood Grove Sporting Club. Frankie Kramer, the California lightweight who is aiming at an engagement with Benny Leonard, is the principal in the star bout, his opponent being Bushey Graham, of Oppenheim.

Brooklyn Amateur Provides Thrills in Boxing Tourney

William Suess, B.A.A., Wins Semi-Final and Final Bout via the Knock-Out Route

William Suess, a shifty little boxer, representing the Brooklyn A. A., was the sensation of the final bouts of the Brooklyn College Club amateur tournament at the 24 Field Artillery Armory, Brooklyn, last night. Suess won his semi-final and final bouts in the 110-pound class by the knock-out route.

In the semi-final he stopped George Carmine in two rounds, and knocked out Tom O'Carra, of the Trinity Club, after 2 minutes 35 seconds of the first round in the final.

Wilbur Cohan, the colored bantamweight, scored two easy victories in winning first honors in the 118-pound division.

Gordon Munce, state heavyweight champion, won in his class by default, the three semi-finalists failing to appear.

The summaries:

110-lb. class, semi-finals—William Suess, A. A., defeated Tom O'Carra, Trinity Club, after two minutes 35 seconds of the first round.

118-lb. class, semi-final bout—Jack Natall, referee stopped bout in second round, after two minutes and 20 seconds.

128-lb. class, semi-final bouts—Tommy Lowna, Kennedy Boys Club, defeated Charlie Loden, Union Settlement A. C., three rounds, judge's decision.

Final—Tommy Lowna defeated Andy Oswald, unattached, two rounds.

168-lb. class, semi-final—W. Anthropus, unattached, defeated John Kahn, Brooklyn A. C., referee stopped bout after 15 seconds of the third round.

Final—W. Anthropus, unattached, defeated Max Fluerestein after 2 minutes 10 seconds of second round.

Sunday Basketball Game Is Postponed

As a result of the action of the blue law folks against professional basketball being played in the city on Sunday, the scheduled game between the Original Celtics and the Italian Catholic Club Five at Tammany Hall has been postponed until next Monday night. Cases against these clubs will come up in court shortly.

It was learned late last night that other clubs scheduled to play to-morrow would carry out their plans in spite of the opposition from those who would have the sport stopped. These organizations are confident that the city officials will support them and it is likely that a merry battle will ensue when the forces collide in Fifth Avenue Court, Brooklyn, Monday.

Local Bouts To-night

Rink S. C.—Johnny Green vs. Phil Franchini, 12 rounds.

9th Regiment—Mickey Pell vs. Jimmy Day, 12 rounds.

Walker S. C.—Tommy Billard vs. Sulo Martin, 12 rounds.

Commonwealth S. C.—Johnny Kelly vs. Tommy McAllister, 12 rounds.

Ridgewood Grove S. C.—Charley Koller vs. Johnny Gannon, 12 rounds.

W. and J.'s Best Will Start in Detroit Game

Presidents Practice in the Rain for Big Football Contest in West To-day

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 2.—Indications to-night were that Washington and Jefferson and the University of Detroit would be forced to battle in their post-season game to-morrow on Navin Field with weather conditions anything but ideal. A drizzling rain driven by a lake gale swept over the gridiron to-day and made conditions such that clever football work would not be probable.

The Presidents had a workout for an hour this afternoon, going through their drill in the rain. They attempted nothing but a rehearsal of plays and formations and a limbering up that would fit them for a contest that is regarded as one of the hardest they have had this year. Coach Neale said to-night that he would start the same team that defeated both Pitt and West Virginia, and which is regarded as the best combination the Presidents have put on the field this season. Basista, fullback, is the only man who is not in prime condition, but it is believed that he will be in shape to last out the contest unless he sustains further injuries.

Detroit's team had a light final workout this afternoon, and after his men had gone to the showers Coach Duffy said he felt confident that his players would win. The game to-morrow will start at 2 o'clock Eastern time.

One change was made in the list of officials, Walter Eckersall, of Chicago, originally selected as referee, was unable to come, and Eldridge, also of Chicago, was selected in his place. Jim Moffatt, of Princeton, will be umpire. Tom Thorp, of Columbia, linesman, and R. W. Maxwell, of Swarthmore, field judge.

Neal's Team Accepts To Play at Pasadena

DETROIT, Dec. 2.—Washington and Jefferson was recognized to-day as the Eastern collegiate football champion when the committee in charge of the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena officially asked the Presidents to play the intercollegiate New Year's Day game there. Graduate Manager Robert M. Murphy, of W. and J., accepted the tender, and the Presidents will compete in the biggest gridiron struggle of the year on the Pacific Coast.

Manager Murphy, here with the Presidents, who play the University of Detroit on Navin Field to-morrow, announced that he had received sanction for the trip and that he would take what he regarded as the best team of the year in the East to the Pacific Coast city.

Tentative approaches regarding a game at Pasadena had been made some days ago, but the formal offer did not arrive until the Presidents had left Washington for the Michigan invasion.

Yale May Play Iowa Oct. 14

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 2.—The much-talked-of date of the expected Yale-Iowa football game of 1922 is undisturbed here, it was learned yesterday, as that date is held open. The date preceding the Yale-Princeton game, November 11, is scheduled for the Maryland game.

Chicago May Meet Japs

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—An invitation from Japan to Alonzo A. Stagg, director of athletics at the University of Chicago, inviting him to bring a track team to Japan next summer to meet a team of the best Japanese performers, is being considered by him, he said to-day.
